OCEANA KNIFE MAN IS JAILED

Judge says attacker did not intend to kill

A man who claimed he "accidentally" stabbed a clubber five times at Oceana in Kingston has been jailed for seven years.

Hoopang Wong, 25, had been found guilty of attacking Karlos Fredericks with a flick knife during an attack on May 20 on the outside smoking balcony.

Wong said that Mr Fredericks had attacked him and, after finding the blade on the floor of the club, he accidentally cut the victim in self defence.

Mr Fredericks received four cuts to his legs, including one down to the bone, and a fifth to the chest.

by ROSS LOGAN

ross.logan@london.newsquest.co.uk

At Kingston Crown Court on Tuesday, Recorder Michael Hunter said he accepted that Wong had no intention of killing his victim.

But he also pointed to the fact Wong, from Northolt in Middlesex, had two previous convictions for possessing a knife, serving an eight-week prison sentence for the second offence in 2007.

Defending Wong, Nathalie Carter described her client as a "warm, loyal and sensitive young man", with aspirations of becoming a tattoo artist.

Mr Hunter said: "I take into account four of the wounds and two of the deep wounds were deliberately made by you on the legs.

"I am therefore giving you credit for the fact that when you used the knife the way you did you were taking care not to inflict life-threatening injuries, although I am aware that such injuries can cause death.

"I can only hope that when you are released from prison you will use your potential and never return to prison again."

Jailed: Hoopang Wong

Man suffers head injury following road accident

A Chessington man is still in hospital after being involved in a road traffic accident during rush hour.

Michael "Alby" Miles, 60, who lives in a caravan in Chessington, was hit in Hook Road outside the North Star pub last Tuesday evening at around 5.30pm.

He was taken to St George's Hospital with head and leg injuries and was in a serious but stable condition as the Kingston Guardian went to press.

It is not yet clear whether he was crossing or fell into the road.

Friend Polly Bursby, who works at the Chessington Equestrian Centre, said: "One of my girls went up to see him and he has a broken leg and facial injuries. We are all wishing him a speedy recovery."

Jim Taylor from Chessington Residents' Association, said: "He is a character and a good handyman - a Chessington legend."

The A243 Hook Road northbound was closed between Clayton Road and Somerset Avenue for three hours and opened at around 8.30pm in the evening.

Councillor Patricia Bamford said: "It is tragic something like this has happened in the days leading up to Christmas."

"There is no crossing there but there is one further up and one at the top."

Transport for London has submitted proposals to improve a crossing outside the Hook Centre, which is further down the road, and a new crossing will be put in by the junction with Elm Road.

Grandfather Mike Cowley, 73, a former school governor at Castle Hill Primary School and Chessington Community College, died when he was hit by a lorry while crossing Hook Road on December 12 in 2007, sparking calls for the new crossing.

No run of the mill street: 'Advent calendar' windows in Mill Street

Residents of a Kingston road are counting down to Christmas in style.

Homeowners in Mill Street have launched a live advent calendar, with neighbours revealing a specially decorated window each day between now and Christmas Eve.

The first advent window was opened on Saturday, outside the Stanley Picker Gallery at the end of Mill Street.

The festive stunt was organised by Rob Willingham, from Mill Street Residents' Association.

Mr Willingham said the idea was originally forged in Switzerland – via his parents in Hull.

He said: "My parents live in Hull and they have a residents' association, which has been doing advent windows for 10 years. They got the idea from one of their residents who is from Switzerland."

Although residents signed up to take part in the advent "calendar", only Mr Willingham knows who is opening the next window and when. He said: "It can be any design. It doesn't have to be about Christmas. Some people have done the latest blockbuster film, and some people have done something around the significance of the number."

"We have got a close knit community so it was not too difficult to get 24 people to do it."

Its launch was preceded by an inaugural bake-off between Mill Street residents. Three cakes were chosen and the creators will now face off in a pre-Christmas grand final.

David Falkner, Stanley Picker Gallery director, then unveiled the first advent window, designed by exhibiting artist Andy Holden.

Mr Falkner said: "We are honoured to be the number one advent window, and delighted to host the bake-off."

Fined over anti-Muslim violence

Members of Kingston Mosque have offered an olive branch to a man convicted of violent disorder after being photographed with a stick.

During Henry Hunter's trial in November, the 19-year-old expressed regret over his involvement with the group that attacked the East Road mosque with sticks, beer bottles and bacon.

After his sentencing, Hunter told the Kingston Guardian he intended to write a letter of apology to the mosque.

Rizwan Khaliq, from Kingston Muslim Association, said the mosque members were open to "building bridges".

Mr Khaliq said: "It is unfortunate it takes a jury trial for some people to express their remorse, and it is a shame it takes a sentencing for them to write to us.

"But we are a forgiving and open arms community and if it was possible to build bridges we do embrace all.

"Clearly we don't want to see mosques attacked in the future and if we can reach out in a mature way to the disenfranchised then we would be very interested in doing that."

Mosque plan thrown out over traffic fears

by MIKE PYLE

mike.pyle@london.newsquest.co.uk

Planning permission for a mosque in Worcester Park was unanimously turned down by councillors at a lively meeting with heightened security.

Councillors said the proposed mosque in Green Lane would bring too much traffic to the area and voted to refuse planning permission after hearing arguments from concerned neighbours and from the project's backers.

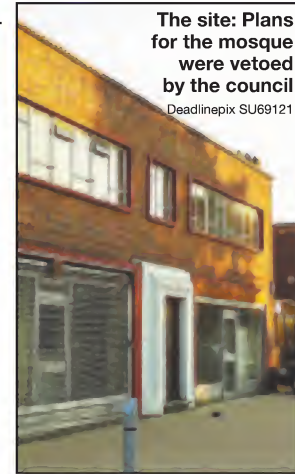

About 300 people attended the meeting and there were loud cheers as the councillors voted.

Three Police Community Support Officers and two police officers attended to help keep order.

During the meeting the chairman had to ask the audience to calm down on several occasions as speakers were interrupted by loud heckling.

Sutton Council's development control committee met at Cheam High School on December 3 to accommodate as many of the hundreds of people who wrote in protest against, and in support of, the proposal to turn the Old Bank Chambers into a mosque.

The plan was to use the building, which has been vacant for more than three years but used to be home to about 20 office staff, as a mosque with regular prayer meetings attracting about 15 people and Friday prayers attracting 140 people.

Iftikhar Maniar, of Cunnane Town Planning, speaking on behalf of the applicant, said: "It is clear there will be no severe impact.

There are no policy grounds on which this application can be refused. It will provide a community facility for hundreds of Muslims."

Arthur Hookway, chairman of the Worcester Park Residents' Association, addressed councillors at the meeting.

He said: "I personally delivered a petition with more than 3,700 signatures to the council. I feel I can say I have been in touch with many residents and I have found less than a handful in support of this.

"Can you afford to get this wrong? If you do, those of us who live and drive on the affected roads will never recover."

Other speakers against the proposal included ward councillors Stephen Fenwick and Stuart Gordon Bulloch as well as the chairman of Worcester Park Traders' Association.

Speakers in favour of the proposal were repeatedly heckled including by one woman who appeared to be crying.

Committee chairman Councillor John Leach had to tell members of the audience they did their case "no good" by calling out.

Having heard the arguments, councillors unanimously voted against giving the mosque planning permission.

Have your say on proposed changes to the Congestion Charge

Transport for London is proposing to make the following changes:

- Introducing a new Ultra Low Emission Discount, replacing the existing Greener and Electric vehicle discounts to help improve air quality and reduce carbon emissions.
- Increasing the Penalty Charge to £130 to align with other similar traffic enforcement charges.
- Removing the option to pay in shops and petrol stations. Most payments are now made by CC Auto Pay, online, by text messaging or by phone.

Temple is on track

A former Buddhist temple has been transformed into a race course for adrenaline-seeking drivers.

The Race Centre by the Ace of Spades in Hook Rise North, Hook, opened its doors for the first time last week.

The games and entertainment venue will now be open seven days a week with a bar on site and the chance to drive Mini Coopers, Lamborghinis, Gallardos and Formula Fords.

Manager Julian Gibbs said: "I think it was a Buddhist temple here before and it still has quite a calm atmosphere.

"Everyone still seems to end up sitting cross-legged."

But Jim Taylor, vice-chairman of the Chessington Residents' Association, said: "They always seem to cram these things into Chessington. We are not for it. We are still trying to get in touch with the council about its change of use of planning application."

Cordon: Police at the scene following the killing; Asad Niazi, right

Deadlinepix KT61305

Killer's 'faked email'

by TOM BARNES

tbarnes@london.newsquest.co.uk

A jealous lover who hit his girlfriend 50 times with a hammer in front of their daughter had faked an email to make it look like she provoked him, a court heard.

Asad Niazi, 29, killed Charito Cruz, 37, at the home they shared in Cambridge Road, Kingston, having discovered she had rekindled an affair with a former lover on Facebook.

Mr Niazi, 29, admits manslaughter, but denies murder on the grounds he was suffering from severe depression at the time of the attack on September 26, 2011.

Prosecutor John Rees told the Old Bailey at the beginning of his trial on Monday, December 3, that records recovered from the family computer showed Mr Niazi accessed the Filipino nanny's Yahoo account so he could send a fake message to his own email address.

The message, which taunts Mr

Niazi with threats of being sent to jail and not being allowed to see his daughter, was sent to "mitigate the consequences of his intended actions", he said.

Mr Rees said: "It is our contention that this sham email was produced by the defendant because he was already contemplating the possibility of killing her and was considering what charges he might face."

Mr Niazi was found cradling the couple's daughter, then two years old, with the blood of Ms Cruz "splattered all over his face", the court heard.

He is alleged to have told a police officer "she cheated on me, she deserved it", but later denied making the statement, telling officers he loved Ms Cruz.

The jury heard Mr Niazi told a child helpline he was being "pushed to the limits" after discovering Ms Cruz was in regular text and Facebook contact with married ex-boyfriend Michael Gabriel.

Mr Niazi's brother Muhammad Khan said Ms Cruz, a nanny and care home worker, texted her new lover in front of Mr Niazi.

He said: "He told me she was not treating him very well and that she was taunting him."

The day before Ms Cruz's death, Mr Niazi was released on police bail after admitting criminal damage to her iPhone, the court heard.

Ms Cruz made an appointment to visit the domestic violence one-stop-shop in Kingston and made inquiries about changing the locks, the court heard.

The trial continues.

Oceana goes to court to fight for its right to party

by TOM BARNES

tbarnes@london.newsquest.co.uk

The last night at Oceana has been delayed after the Kingston club's owners appealed against the removal of its licence.

The Clarence Street venue will remain open until the appeal is heard at a magistrates' court, whose ruling is final.

A sub-committee made up of councillors decided to withdraw the club's licence at an all-day hearing at Guildhall in Kingston on September 20, after the fatal stabbing of Jamie Sanderson.

A spokeswoman for Luminar Leisure said the venue would appeal as the decision to revoke the licence was "disproportionate".

She said: "Oceana has been a key part of Kingston's night economy for more than 20 years and employs 200 people. "Our management team has worked hard to build productive relationships with the police and local authorities.

"We are always conscious of our neighbours and have taken various steps to minimise disruption and have not

Troubled club: Oceana will remain open until the hearing received a single complaint from residents during the past six years.

"The safety and security of our customers is and always has been our main priority.

"Over the past five years violent crime has decreased and, of those crimes, more than 88 per cent were down to the theft and loss of mobile phones, which distort the overall figures.

"We look forward to working closely with the community, licensing and police teams to maintain the safest possible environment for our customers to enjoy a great night out."

The club topped a poll of the most crimes in London nightclubs for two years running and accounts for almost a quarter of crimes in Kingston, the hearing heard.

Councillor Andrea Craig said: "Students and residents stand together in thinking the club should be permanently closed.

"Saying it is sorry and it will not happen again is just not good enough."

Council leader Coun Derek Osbourne said: "It would be surprising if Luminar had not appealed given it made so much money out of the club.

"One of the questions over how we got to this sorry place is the way it made its money – by stacking up cheap drinks, not caring how drunk people got, admitting people who may already have had too much to drink and, as we know, being lax about security."

Out with the old... in with the New Malden

Keeping traffic moving and sprucing up shops, the station, bus stops and benches would make New Malden stand out, residents have said.

The High Street could even have public works of art and a regular market as part of a new town centre strategy.

The town was snubbed for a £885,000 bid to Mayor Boris Johnson in January as nearby Kingston town was handed £2m, leading councillors and others to work together to come up with ideas for improvements.

A summer consultation said bus stop signs, welcome signs and furniture making New Malden different from Kingston, Chessington and Surbiton would make the town more inviting.

Greater links to the Korean community and others was also found to be important.

Hannah Rees, Kingston Council's neighbourhood manager, said: "This exhibition is about what people told us they wanted. What they would like to see New Malden as."

Although there is no money yet, the town centre strategy hopes to win funding from the Heritage

Lottery Fund and the Greater London Authority, as Kingston town centre did

But Barry Di Biase, owner of Di Biase salon in New Malden High Street, said: "I'm terribly cynical as they have been talking about regenerating the High Street for the past 30 years."

"They told us it was going to be wonderful – was it? They changed it about five or six years ago and now they want to change it again because it does not work. I saw a change – I would not say it was an improvement."

Ideas can be seen at the Malden Centre until December 21.

Before and after: Ideas for sprucing up dull spaces, such as underpasses, with art will be shown at the Malden Centre

DANCING SANTA:

Shoppers in Kingston can meet Father Christmas this December. The dancing Santa - aka Old Malden photographer Gary Burfield - will be at the Crown Arcade between Union Street and the Apple Market from now until Christmas Eve. Children who pay a visit can expect a chocolate treat and a high quality photograph of their meeting.

NO SHISHA: An ice cream parlour has been told to stop selling shisha tobacco without permission. Treat-A-Licious in Surbiton Road, Surbiton, has been hit with an enforcement order demanding it stop selling the products and remove a timber smoking area from the back of the premises.

Students' digs 'would be out of keeping with area'

by ROSS LOGAN
and HANA HAUSMEISTER
ross.logan@london.newsquest.co.uk

Plans to build new student accommodation in two areas of Kingston have been condemned by residents.

London and Provincial Accommodation wants to demolish a building in Hawks Road – formerly Park Wire Displays – and replace it with an “overtly modernist” 52-bedroom housing block for students.

Hawks Road Residents' Association secretary Ray Dickinson said: “The building is far too large for the area and would be completely out of place in a road that is largely residential.

“The design is also totally out of keeping with the mostly Victorian and Edwardian houses, and even with the few commercial buildings in the road.”

Fellow association member Barry Flynn said residents had yet to hear from Liberal Democrat ward councillors Penny Shelton, Stephen Brister and David Ryder-Mills.

He said: “There is a very strong feeling of objection here.

Against the plans: Ray Dickinson and Barry Flynn

Deadlinepix BT72458

“We have asked the local councillors for their support but so far heard nothing back from them.”

But Norbiton councillor Stephen Brister responded: “The main reason people know about this is because the three Lib Dem councillors printed a leaflet and delivered them to houses in Hawks Road, Portman Road and School Passage.”

Meanwhile, women were in tears, it was claimed, against the building of 133 flats in Kingston Vale by AK Property Investments, demolishing a bungalow at 1a Robin Hood Lane, and

Gordon Foster, chairman of the Kingston Vale Residents' Association, said: “The residents are up in arms about it. I've had ladies in tears about it.

“We have had a considerable amount of calls and a couple of letters, all concerned that it would be a catastrophe for the area.”

Coun Patrick Codd, co-chairman of the Maldens and Coombe planning sub-committee, said: “I have not known such anger in nearly 20 years, not just in Kingston but in my ward.”

John Foley, of Ullswater Crescent, said: “The facilities here have declined over the years. There used to be two pubs but both have been sold off for housing and we've lost those amenities. Where would the students go?”

James Lloyd, of AK Property Investments, said: “We are not going to please everybody, but we have submitted the application for a development that is safe, secure and managed, and that will fit comfortably in the Vale.”

The decision is expected on December 17.

'Mean' pair stole from 97-year-old

A couple who stole a 97-year-old woman's life savings have been jailed for two years.

Former Chessington residents Julie Brazil, 30, and Craig Blackburn, 32, had been gardeners for the pensioner.

Between September 2009 and March 2010 they stole almost £20,000, by robbing cheques and cheque stubs and paying them into Brazil's account.

Both were sentenced to two years in jail at Kingston Crown Court on Friday, November 30.

Blackburn, of Cox Lane, West Ewell, was sentenced to an extra 11 months for a burglary in Durham while he was on bail.

Detective Constable Ahmed Elobeid, of Kingston CID, said: “It is shocking that two people felt that they could take advantage of a vulnerable old lady to the extent that they virtually stole her life savings.

“At no point did either Brazil or Blackburn accept responsibility for what they had done and thus caused an extensive investigation and drawn out court proceedings, which have caused great stress to the victim and close members of her family.”

Judge Susan Tapping said the theft was one of the meanest the court had heard.

Baroness criticises 'severe cuts'

A leading disabilities equality campaigner has criticised Kingston Council over its handling of adult social care budgets.

Baroness Campbell of Surbiton, who had spinal muscular atrophy diagnosed as a baby, said "severe cuts" had been made worse by a lack of "intelligent planning" from Kingston Council leaders.

Jane Campbell, 53, was

by PATRICK GRAFTON-GREEN
newsdesk@kingstonguardian.co.uk appointed a cross-bench life peer in 2007 and worked with the council throughout the 1990s helping disabled people in the borough.

She said: "In the last 10 years I have seen the area severely attacked by cuts.

"I don't think that the response from the leadership of the council has been very intelligently planned. It stifles independent living.

"I'm sorry they have gone along with the cuts when others have not."

On November 21 Mrs Campbell won a battle against a 300-year-old law to become the first woman to speak at the House of Lords with the help of an assistant.

She said: "I have been working for disabled people's rights for 30 years and changes needed to be made for me to continue working there."

Mrs Campbell co-founded the National Centre for Independent Living (NCIL), which has helped thousands of people gain more control over their lives.

Deputy leader of the council Liz Green said she was unaware of Baroness Campbell's concerns and urged her to get in contact.

She said: "If she has an issue with the way we have handled budget cuts my advice would be to get in touch because this is the first I have heard of it.

"It seems like a very sweeping statement, quite general – that does say an awful lot."

Church festive feast

Kingston's homeless were treated to a Christmas meal with all the trimmings courtesy of a Northor church and a high street retail giant.

St Peter's Church in London Road hosted a festive feast for the borough's most in need, supplied and cooked by staff from John Lewis in Kingston town centre.

The store has been providing meals at the church once a month throughout 2012, after selecting Kingston Churches Action on Homelessness as its charity of the year.

Rev Peter Holmes said: "To have John Lewis coming in is fantastic.

"We are very grateful for their support.

"The whole attitude and the whole atmosphere was about 70 people enjoying the festive spirit and talking about the meaning of Christmas."

John Lewis branch manager Jenny Tomley said: "We are so pleased to have been able to assist so many homeless people, thanks to the good work of St Peter's Church."

Objections to filter beds plan continue to flood in Hydro's proposals [for Surbiton filter beds] remain unchanged.

This scheme would lead to a dangerous cross-flow of river traffic and navigational conflicts, all on one of the narrowest and busiest stretches of the Thames.

This would have a devastating effect on one of the best river sports training and racing grounds in Britain.

The River Thames Sports Alliance (RTSA) continues to represent a large number of river sports clubs and more than 1,000 river users, and it remains wholeheartedly opposed to Hydro's proposals.

The recent statements released by Hydro, and Cratus' unsolicited email campaign about consultation with river sports clubs, are designed to mislead people into withdrawing objections.

For the record, neither Hydro nor the Environment Agency have the power to remove the long-standing commercial moorings (described by Hydro as "rotting hulks").

In addition, it is understood Kingston Rowing Club has been persuaded by Cratus to withdraw its long-standing objection to Hydro's proposals in return for a seat on Hydro's proposed marina and houseboat management board and a letter of intent purporting to address the club's concerns about river safety.

Unfortunately, letters of intent have no standing in planning law and the reality is Hydro can simply walk away from such "commitments" whenever it pleases, for example, when it sells on the site to another developer.

It should also be noted several rowing clubs remain opposed to the development and river sports objections to Hydro's scheme continue to flood in.

Hydro's divide and rule tactics and its propaganda campaign are failing.

Indeed, earlier this month, the Blue Chip Stand-Up Paddleboard Club became the latest organisation to register objections to the plans. With 241 subscribed paddlers, Blue Chip is the largest club of its type in the UK.

RTSA urges readers to write to Kingston Council to object to this development.

Another late Victorian building will be razed

Your recent article at first glance appeared to be about the police versus the homeless, but then I noticed Primark Kingston, at 76 Eden Street, proposes to expand by demolishing the Quaker meeting house buildings, at 78 Eden Street, (Squatters arrested in police raid, November 29).

However, as the buildings on the Quaker meeting house site are late Victorian, have a unique style, a subtle blend of Gothic and arts and crafts (similar in many aspects to continental European art nouveau, circa 1900), that is worth preserving.

Furthermore, such buildings are becoming scarce because commercial developers tend not to be interested either in the aesthetic merit or in the cultural value of high street buildings – because aesthetic merit and cultural value are invisible, whereas cash is not.

A previous example of the unnecessary destruction of another late Victorian building, is the demolition of the Treaty Road public library in Hounslow and its replacement by the anonymous Treaty Centre and permanent blockage of traffic along Hounslow high street.

Hydro is not a fit guardian of rich ecological area Pool closure is a loss

Far from being "one step closer" Hydro's plans to build floating homes on Surbiton filter beds face growing opposition.

With such sparse support, it is no surprise Hydro makes much of Natural England's letter to the council lifting its objection, hoping planning officers have confidence there are no ecological issues.

But Natural England has not supported the plans, merely put conditions on its construction if it is approved.

Now the London Bat Group, has recommended the scheme's refusal. It is making it clear how damaging it would be and that it could breach conservation laws.

Another group, the London Wildlife Trust, points out the development's potentially illegal effect on habitats.

Few organisations support the plans. Royal Parks is still opposing it, as are the local MP, ward members and the majority of the people who attended the public meeting.

The most important news is that a rare bat species has been recorded at the site.

Hydro drained the beds twice and Natural England says foraging will be "much reduced". Hydro's own consultant, EDP, points out any draining damages habitats.

Hydro has demonstrated it is not a fit guardian of such a rich ecological environment.

SIMON TYRRELL
Director of Friends of Seething Wells

It is a huge disappointment that, after 45 years, Moor Lane swimming pool has closed down.

Was this all part of the council's plan – for the swimming pool to close when Castle Hill School (Moor Lane School) changed locations? Questions need to be answered.

If Castle Hill School was struggling to manage its swimming pool, did it ask for advice or help?

Malden Parochial School in Old Malden has refurbished its swimming pool. How is it one school is able to maintain its pool while another allows it to close?

Fundraisers: Students at Tolworth Girls' School

Deadlinepix KT72131

Girls button their lips to raise hospice cash

by NAZIA DEWJI

ndewji@london.newsquest.co.uk

A heartwarming week-long campaign raised money for a charity that cared for a classmate's father before he died.

Pupils from Tolworth Girls' School came together to support 15-year-old Chloe Pettyfer, who lost her father to a brain tumour earlier this year.

The schoolgirls put together a programme of sponsored silences, guesses on how many sweets were in a jar, "muffin" days and Krispy Kreme doughnuts and cake sales – which were sold out within 20 minutes.

The group raised £620 which was given to Earl Mountbatten Hospice on the Isle of Wight.

Form tutor Grace Codd said: "Chloe has been so brave and the form really rallied round her."

"They all wanted to do something to help so they came up with the idea of a fundraising week."

"They organised everything themselves. During the sponsored silence they did not utter a word. There are 28 girls in the class and I did not think they could manage, but they did.

"It was quite amusing. But they showed they will really look after each other and are really mature girls now."

She said the class did silent presentations and used the white board to communicate during the sponsored silences.

Other activities included guessing the name of a teddy bear and charity collections within the school.

Sinking feeling for houseboat

A houseboat in Kingston was rescued from a watery fate after springing a leak on the Thames.

Firefighters, London Coastguard and the Teddington crew of the Royal National Lifeboat Institution (RNLI) were called to a floating home 10m downstream of the Kingston railway bridge at 3pm on Friday, November 30.

The boat had started taking on water and neighbours had reported that it was at risk of sinking.

Emergency crews pumped out the water and saved the boat.

Claire Symons, a volunteer crew member at Teddington RNLI, said: "When we arrived the owner's neighbours were setting up pumping equipment so that they could try to get as much water off the boat as possible.

"Our original concerns were allayed slightly when we discovered that the boat was taking on water quite slowly, so it was not at any immediate risk of sinking."

"It attracted a lot of attention from people nearby and from the trains passing by."

Woman hit by train after incident

An investigation has been launched after a woman was hit by a train at Kingston station – less than an hour after she was pulled from the tracks in Norbiton.

The incident, on Wednesday, December 5, saw Kingston station closed for more than an hour after the woman was struck by a train at about 10.15am.

She had been spotted lying on the tracks at Norbiton station 50 minutes earlier.

A British Transport Police spokesman said the incident was being treated as non-suspicious.

Paramedics and the London Air Ambulance attended the scene on Wednesday.

The woman was taken to St George's Hospital in Tooting with serious leg injuries.

At the time of going to press, she was said to be in a stable condition.

"Breakthrough Advances in Denture Technology May End Your Frustration And The Endless Embarrassment Of Ill-Fitting Dentures."

The clinic exclusively dedicated to solving your denture problems.

The Denture Clinic was founded by Dr Justin Stewart, the first bio-functional prosthetic system qualified dental surgeon in the UK. This system is an advanced denture making technique that enables the clinic to offer patients a cost effective long term solution to their denture problems. The Denture Clinic is one of only a handful of practices which dedicates its treatments to denture patients, and has Denture Technicians and a Laboratory on site. Meeting and talking with the technician making your denture is a key benefit. The team has been trained directly by Dr Stewart to be able to carry out treatment to the highest level.

Amazing Results

Many patients have confidence in their dentist treating their natural teeth but often feel that they are less capable in assisting them with their denture problems.

Revolutionary Techniques

The Denture Clinic has seen and helped with just about every conceivable denture problem that exists and has developed many new exclusive techniques to improve dentures and solve issues.

"I am so pleased with my lower denture I am returning for them to make the upper"

Miss C Johnson, Kent

In recent years the clinic has also pioneered new systems including 3D dentures, and conventional dental implants for dentures to "clip" onto. For those who are not suitable for this Mini Dental Implants can often be a solution.

The Denture Clinic receives numerous referrals from general dentists and helps solve common patient frustrations with dentures.

"Denture Wearers' 5 Most Common Frustrations"

1. My Dentures are loose which I find embarrassing.
2. My Dentures are sore and painful when I chew.
3. I have never been happy with the appearance of my teeth and I hate having photos taken.
4. I am not able to chew food properly and can't order what I want at restaurants.
5. I have been told by my dentist that my Dentures are as good as I can expect which leaves me feeling depressed.

WITTY WAR

A laugh-out-loud war comedy will be performed by young actors at the Rose Theatre this month between a gap in the Christmas production Cinderella the Midnight Princess, writes Nazia Dewji.

There is a War is an epic take on a civil war adventure following the life of a young medical officer.

Described as Blackadder meets Monty Python, Tom Basden's play tells the story of a medical officer who goes out in search of the war she was promised but instead comes across disillusioned entertainers, cynical priests and an army of accountants.

The Rose Youth Theatre's

take on this witty and poignant story set on a battle-scorched landscape is their end-of-term performance.

The Youth Theatre has staged more than 20 plays, including Hamlet, the Beggar's Opera, Scenes from Childhood and an adaptation of Oliver Twist.

Playwright Tom Basden won the Edinburgh Comedy Award for best newcomer in 2007 and regularly works with the 2009 Edinburgh Comedy Award winner Tim Key.

His playwriting includes recent episodes of Channel 4's student comedy Fresh Meat.

Time to shine

Now is your chance to apply to show off your talents during Kingston's biggest youth arts festival taking place next summer.

About 5,000 young people came to Kingston last July to take part in last year's International Youth Arts Festival (IYAF) across 15 town centre venues displaying everything from open air theatre, comedy, dance, poetry, film, circus skills, music, painting, acrobatics and all round fun.

Pubs, galleries, churches and Kingston museum were all used as venues as well as parks, the Market Place and an empty car park.

Artists also took over the Rose Theatre's main stage performing to the likes of Prince Edward, the Earl of Wessex, a patron of the festival.

Organisers Creative Youth say they want to create the most jaw-dropping, eye-popping Kingston arts festival ever.

● IYAF; July 6 to 28, 2013; applicants have to be between five and 26 years old; no entrance fee; visit iyafestival.org.uk to see a video of last year's events and apply to take part this year; deadline January 31.

Homeowners in south east get even richer

Over 65s own property worth more than £756 billion

Retired homeowners have total property wealth owned outright of £756.36 billion, new research from independent equity release adviser Key Retirement Solutions shows.

But over-65 homeowners in London and the south east are pulling away from the rest of the country, Key Retirement Solutions' Pensioner Property Equity Index found.

Across the country, homeowners aged 65-plus lost a total of £368.9 million in the past three months – equivalent to around £80 each – as the housing market stabilised, the index shows.

But the national figure masked major gains in London where the average over-65 homeowner gained £4,326 in the past three months while in the south east they were £1,232 better off.

Over-65 homeowners in London have seen average gains of around £21,000 this year with the south east £3,930 ahead.

All other regions are either slightly down or marginally ahead.

Key Retirement's figures show 24 per cent of pensioner property equity is owned by over-65s in London and the south east.

In London, over-65s own property without any mortgages worth £132.71 billion while in the south east, pensioners own £124.07 billion of property without mortgages.

Dean Mirfin, group director at Key Retirement Solutions, said: "The housing market has stabilised but there is a real regional divide with big gains in London and the south east.

"The rest of the country has either seen marginal gains or relatively small losses this year.

"But whatever happens in the housing market, over-65s own considerable property wealth which represents a massive investment success as they no longer have mortgages on homes they may have bought more than 25 years ago."

Designers predict that 2013 will see a trend for single tone worktops in the kitchen in both vibrant and muted tones. This citrus tone worktop, Compac Apple quartz is by granite and quartz specialists Stone Masters. For more information visit www.stonemasters.co.uk

Conditions of acceptance of advertisements

General

1. The following conditions apply to the placing of an order for insertion of advertisements in Newsquest Media Group ("Newsquest") printed or electronic publications. Each order will form a separate agreement and English law will apply. Any change to these conditions must be agreed by us in writing (which means by exchange of letter, fax or email). An "advertiser" means any person or organisation placing an advertisement on their own account or on behalf of another.

Contents

2. The advertiser confirms that the advertisement complies with all applicable legislation, regulations and codes of practice, including the codes supervised by the Advertising Standards Authority. We may reject or require changes to any advertisement so as to comply with legal or moral obligations placed on us or the advertiser; to avoid infringing the rights of a third party or any relevant code of practice; or to meet our published production and quality specifications.

3. The advertiser further confirms that:

- the publication of the advertisement will not breach any contract, infringe the copyright, trademark or other right of any third party and is not libelous of any person;
- all licences and consents from third parties necessary for the publication of the advertisement have been obtained and paid for, including consent from living persons identified in copy or pictures (photographic or otherwise);
- in respect of an investment advertisement, the contents have been approved by, or the advertiser is, and authorised person within the meaning of the Financial Services Act 1986 as amended or the advertisement is otherwise permitted under that Act.

Payment

4. All advertisements must be paid for in full at the time of booking unless credit has been agreed. The price shall be the amount fixed by our published rate card on the date of acceptance of the order plus VAT where applicable. For non-credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of an advertisement that has not been paid for on time. For credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of any future advertisements if payment is not made in accordance with our payment terms. For credit advertisers, interest will be charged on late payments at the rate of 3% above the Bank of England's base lending rate from the date payment is due together with the administration costs of collecting an overdue debt.

5. By placing an order with us, an advertising agency confirms that it contracts as principal with full authority from its client in all matters connected with the order and is responsible for all payments due. We will only accept advertisements from advertising agencies if they are recognised by us.

6. We will try to give notice of increases, but we reserve the right to change our advertising rates at any time. This will not affect contracts, including any fixed term agreement for a series of advertisements.

Box numbers

7. We will use reasonable efforts to forward replies to box numbers within a reasonable time, but we are not responsible for any failure or delay caused by circumstances beyond our reasonable control, or for any losses relating to an advertiser's business or any loss that is not reasonably foreseeable by both parties.

Cancellation

8. We will notify the advertiser of the latest time that orders can be cancelled (the "booking" deadline) and the latest time that advertising copy can be received by us ("the copy deadline"). An advertiser may cancel up until copy deadline and we will make reasonable efforts to re-sell the space, but the advertiser will be liable for the full price if the space is not sold and we will reclaim any unearned volume-based discount. Private advertisers booking by telephone or online may cancel in accordance with relevant law, but no refund shall be available after the copy deadline unless cancellation is due to our negligence. If the copy is not received by the copy deadline, we will not be liable if the advertisement does not appear, but the advertiser will remain liable to make full payment for the price of the advertisement.

9. We will try to satisfy an advertiser's request regarding the positioning of an advertisement, but no guarantee of position can be given unless agreed by us and paid for at the rate then current.

Errors

10. We are not liable for any error, misprint or non-appearance of an advertisement unless caused by our negligence, in which case the advertiser will be entitled to a re-insertion or proportionate refund. The advertiser is solely responsible for checking the advertisement on each insertion and ordering correction where necessary. Except where we have been negligent, we shall not be liable for an error or misprint that, in our reasonable opinion, does not materially detract from the advertisement. We shall not be liable in any case for losses relating to any business or public fund-raising for the advertiser, such as lost customers, revenue or profit.

Copyright

11. Advertisements are accepted on condition that we have the right to publish them online as well as in any booked titles. The copyright in work or material we contribute to or re-work for an advertisement belongs to us. We will dispose of advertiser's copy, artwork, photographs or other materials after six months unless collected.

General

12. We shall not be liable if our publishing activities are restricted or prevented by any law, act or event beyond our reasonable control (including, for example, industrial dispute). In such case, the advertiser shall accept publication when available or otherwise may cancel the order by written notice and pay only for work done and materials used.

13. We will use the advertiser's details for internal administration. Unless the advertiser tells us not to in writing at any time, we may also share details with other Newsquest companies or with carefully selected third parties, who may send information about goods and services.

14. The advertiser will be liable to pay us for all costs, losses, expenses and damages of any kind suffered or incurred by us as a result of legal claims or actions, actual or threatened, arising from the advertiser's breach of these conditions or the publications of the advertisement, unless caused by our own negligent act or failure.

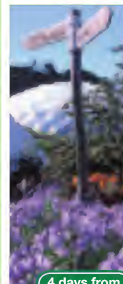

15. We may cancel the order at any time if the advertiser breaches these conditions and the breach is not capable of remedy or it continues for seven days after we have given written notice of it, or if we reasonably believe the advertiser is unable to pay debts or the advertiser goes or threatens to go out of business.

Method of payment

We will be pleased to accept your payment by any of the following methods:

- CHEQUE - Made payable to NEWSQUEST (LONDON) LTD.
- BACS - Electronic Bank Transfer • CASH - Paid to one of our Branch Offices.

Don't just plough on through snow...

Some of us have already had to battle through snow to get to work this month, and as more is forecast, road safety charity the Institute of Advanced Motorists is offering drivers advice on driving in wintry conditions.

The charity, which has launched a website with traffic updates, weather forecasts and tips on how to drive safely in winter, says if staying at home in the warm is not an option, then you should follow this advice when you drive through snow.

❖ Ensure your windows are clean and clear, and that you have all-round visibility before you set off. Also take the time to clear snow off the roof of your car.

❖ When driving in snow, get your speed right – not too fast that you risk losing control, but not so slow that you risk

You could come a cropper. Follow this advice for safe winter driving losing momentum when it is needed.

❖ From stationary, start gently and avoid high revs. Stay in a higher gear to avoid skidding and maximise control. If it is very slippery, in a manual car move off in a higher gear, rather than just using first.

❖ If you get yourself into a skid, the main thing to remember is to take your foot off the pedals and steer. Only use the brake if you cannot steer out of trouble.

❖ Double or even triple your normal stopping distance from the vehicle in front so you are not relying on your brakes to be able to stop; it simply may not happen!

❖ It's better to think ahead as you drive to keep moving, even if it is at walking pace.

❖ Plan your journey around busier roads as they are more likely to have been gritted. Avoid using short cuts on minor roads – they are less likely to be cleared or treated with salt, especially country lanes and housing estates.

❖ Bends are a particular problem in icy conditions – slow down before you get to the bend so that by the time you turn the steering wheel you have already lost enough speed.

❖ On a downhill slope, get your speed low before you start the descent, and do not let it build up – it is much easier to keep it low than to try and slow down once things get slippery.

And if the worst does happen:

❖ Keep track of where you are. If you do have to call for assistance, you need to be able to tell the breakdown or emergency services your location.

❖ If you must leave your vehicle to telephone for assistance, find a safe place to stand away from the traffic flow. If you have just lost control, the next driver could well do the same in the same place.

❖ If you break down or have to pull over on a motorway or dual carriageway, it is always better to leave your vehicle and stand a short distance behind and to the safe side of it. Don't stand in front of it if at all possible. Balancing the risks of a collision and hypothermia is something that depends entirely on your situation.

The tips on the IAM website www.drivingadvice.org.uk cover rain, snow, ice, fog and wind – everything you can expect in a typically unpredictable British winter.

Check it out before you travel.

Life unchanged for judo star Karina

Life has barely changed for former Tolworth Girls' School student Karina Bryant, despite winning Olympic judo bronze at the London 2012 Games.

"Judo is judo. It is still not a really high profile sport where you are going to earn loads of money," said the 33-year-old after winning the Sports Personality of the Year award at the Surrey Sports Awards on Sunday.

"I didn't do it for that. I do it for myself and for the love of the sport. These little recognitions I get now is what it is all about for me."

Trophy triumph: Stragglers Running Club athlete Justin West SP70898

Lucky seven got Robertson

Kingston & Polytechnic Harrier James Robertson led a small, but select, field home in his club's seven-mile open cross country race in Richmond Park on Saturday.

Robertson clocked an impressive 39 minutes, 56 seconds to win the David Pool Trophy by 42 seconds ahead of second placed clubmate Michael Huntley (40:38), with Matt Hyett completing the top three in 40:44.

Stragglers Running Club's Justin West clocked 30:52 to finish third overall in the Ellis Trophy cross country meeting – also in Richmond Park.

The 40-year-old won the over-40s category in some style as he came in only 39 seconds adrift of overall trophy winner 31-year-old Alder-shot, Farnham & District athlete Frazer Alexander.

Changing of the guard at Ks

by STUART AMOS

samos@london.newsquest.co.uk

Kingstonian boss Alan Dowson says only time will tell if this week's sweeping changes at Kingsmeadow were the right decision.

Defender Nathan Green, midfielder Harry Harding, centre back Callum McNaughton – on-loan from AFC Wimbledon – and youngster Jack Barton have all arrived in the last seven days, with Sam Clayton, Tommy Hutchinson, Byron Napper and Dominic Sterling heading out the door.

The moves brought instant rewards when Andre McCollin's penalty accounted for Bury Town 1-0 on Saturday, before Kieran Murphy and Matt Pattison struck for a 2-1 win over Hendon on Tuesday night.

And Dowson, who takes his side to Cray Wanderers on Sunday, admitted last week's 2-1 Surrey Senior Cup exit to Corinthian Casuals was the catalyst.

"I was absolutely distraught after going out of the cup," he said.

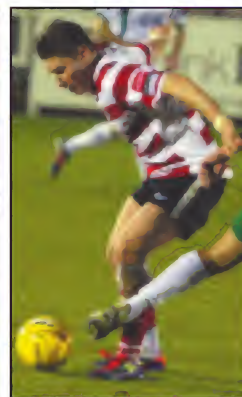

"I've always had the backing of the board, but even they were saying 'what is going on?' after that.

"We needed to make the changes because we want to push on this year. It has worked – for now.

"I'll not get carried away. We'll only know if it was the right thing to do at the end of the season."

All change at Ks: (Clockwise from top) New boy Nathan Green holds off a Bury Town defender on his debut at the weekend; Harry Harding, signed last week, has made an impression at Kingsmeadow; Andre McCollin continued his impressive campaign thus far by slotting the decisive penalty at the weekend; and Aaron Goode looked re-invigorated as he assumed the captain's armband in the absence of injured skipper Gary MacDonald All pictures: SP72517

SPORTSbrief

HOCKEY: Surbiton Ladies captain Chloe Strong has admitted her first season at Sugden Road could not have gone better. The 29-year-old switched to Sugden Road from Slough last summer and helped Surbiton win the Women's Hockey League Conference East title and promotion to the Premier League for the first time via the play-offs.

"Getting promotion was the target at the start of the season and luckily we got the results we needed to get there," she said after Surbiton Ladies collected the team of the year crown at the Surrey Sports Awards on Sunday.

RUGBY UNION: Kingston revived their flagging Surrey Division One campaign with a 20-15 win at Croydon on Saturday. Kingston have slipped to fifth in the table recently after a strong start to the campaign. But the weekend win puts them within five points of second-placed Old Tiffinians, who lost 27-31 at home to Old Freemans. Kingston host Old Tiffinians this weekend.

FOOTBALL: New Walton & Hershaw boss Paul Martyn-Jones made it two wins from two Ryman Division One South matches in charge with a 1-0 win over Corinthian Casuals. Casuals host Faversham Town on Saturday, knowing the visitors put seven past Walton Casuals last weekend.
